Report on Six-Day Certificate Course for II B.Sc Zoology Students

2022-2023 (Vermicomposting for Sustainable Agriculture.)

Introduction:

The Department of Zoology conducted a six-day certificate course for 33 students of II B.Sc Zoology. The course aimed to provide practical knowledge and training in the field of zoology. This report provides an overview of the course, including the schedule, activities, and a special field visit.

Course Details:

- Duration: The course was conducted from 14.11.22 to 19.11.22, spanning six days.
- Timing: The sessions were scheduled from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. each day.

Teaching Methodology:

The course employed a combination of lectures, interactive discussions, practical demonstrations, and hands-on activities to enhance the students' understanding of the subject matter. The instructors utilized visual aids, specimens, and audio-visual resources to facilitate effective learning.

Field Visit and Training:

On the last day of the course, 19.11.22, the students were taken to Chandru's Vermicomposting Farm at Yelagiri for a field visit and training. This visit aimed to provide practical exposure to the students in the field of vermicomposting and its relevance to Zoology. The students had the opportunity to observe the vermicomposting process, interact with experts, and gain insights into sustainable waste management practices.

Conclusion:

The six-day certificate course conducted by the Department of Zoology for II B.Sc Zoology students was a comprehensive and enriching experience. The course successfully provided theoretical knowledge, practical training, and a valuable field visit to enhance the students' understanding of Zoology. The students gained insights into various aspects of the subject and were exposed to real-world applications through the field visit. Such initiatives contribute significantly to the holistic development of students pursuing Zoology as their academic discipline.

DEPARTMENT OF INTERIOR DESIGN & DÉCOR

REPORT

CERTIFICATE COURSE – PRINTING TECHNIQUES FOR SOFT FURNISHINGS

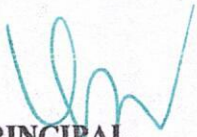

The Certificate Course on Printing Techniques, conducted by Interior Design & Décor course in charges, S.Nagasudha, D.Anandhi, V.Sathya, S.Kanimozhi, provided a comprehensive learning experience for 403 students of I BSc Interior Design & Décor from December 1st to December 11th, 2021. Throughout the program, spanning 30 hours, students were immersed in a variety of printing techniques, including block printing, stencil printing, fabric printing, and tie & dye methods.

The Resource Person expertise and guidance ensured that students gained practical skills and theoretical knowledge in each technique, enabling them to explore the creative possibilities of printing in interior design. Additionally, interactive lectures and discussions facilitated a deeper understanding of the historical and contemporary significance of printing in décor. The course culminated in a hands-on project where students applied their acquired skills to design and produce soft furnishings, showcasing their proficiency and innovative approach to printing techniques. Overall, the certificate course not only equipped students with valuable technical skills but also fostered their creativity, critical thinking, and appreciation for the art of printing in interior design.

The Certificate Course on Printing Techniques, under the expert guidance of Resource Person Sathya, concluded successfully on December 11th, 2021. As the 30-hour program drew to a close, certificates of completion were issued to the 26 participating students of I BSc Interior Design & Décor. The culmination of the course was marked by a sense of achievement and camaraderie among the students, who had not only expanded their technical skills but also forged bonds through collaborative learning.
