UNIT-I INTRODUCTION TO MOBILE APPLICATIONS

What is Mobile Application Development?

Mobile Application Development is the process of developing mobile applications by using softwarewhich will run on different mobile devices.

All types of mobile application will utilize a network connection. The developers will createinstallable software, which includes backend services such as accessing of data with an ApplicationProgramming Interface, not only that all the mobile application developers will test the developedapplication in different mobile devices to make sure that it is functioning properly.

Three major development approaches:

- 1. Native Applications
- 2. Hybrid Applications
- 3. Web Applications

The above given three application has its own pros and cons. Based on the requirement the developer will decide what type of application should be developed. When selecting the right developmentapproach the developer must consider the following factors, the desired user experience, the computing resources which are needed to develop applications and the features which the app should include in it, the time factor, cost, budget and most importantly the target devices.

HUMAN VALUES

Lhm .

Tole Schermen

Putting forward your positive energy connects you back to basic human values which we all share. Good Deeds Day shows that no matter the size of the values when we want to brightens someone else's day or volunteering in year connectivy, we can all take active part in making a difference. - Shari Arisan Ruman values are defined as the values that are formulated to achieve barmony in living. It can also be defined as the set of aims and beliefs articulated to follow by humans for achieving their self-esteem and appraisal of their selfit also belps in maintaining the relationship between human beings in an optim way. It guides them to approach each other with respect and love. According Rudshohn et al.(1954) * A value is a conception, explicit or implicit, distinctoof an individual or characteristic of a group of the desirable which influences in selection from the available modes, means ,and ends of action". "Values have been defined as measures of worth as satisfaction we resave" (Nickell and Dorsey 1967). The term value signifies the meaning or definition of worth that smached to any object, condition, principle or idea. Value as a concept is vague and subjective though it is important to an individual e.g. health, happiness. They are our ways behind our actions and the basis for setting our goals. They give meaning to life and form the basis for one's philosophy of life. It gives directions through the importance we place on the objects and situations in daily living Values are the general principles and norms that are to be followed by the human for leading the righteous life. The values are set by humans for each section of life to achieve fulfilment. The values are set in the way that humans ensue which in turn can attain unity, equality, prosperity and contentment it telps to showcase the identity and character of the people.

The Necessity of Human Values

Values are taught from home where the parents make children understand to differentiate from right and wrong paths. Each individual grows both physically and mentally. Human values are built up in a manner to support the mental development of human. The behaviour and mannerism of humans not only affect oneself but all linked with them.

Thus cultivating good human values at a young age is necessary which will uplift the relationship among one another. It also effects in lessening the misdemeanour caused in society, Human values increase self-confidence and humility and also nurtures the next generation in a virtuous way. In today's world where respect and affection are getting declined towards parents, teachers, and elders following human values can be acting as a boon to modify the cultural value.

Due to competitive environment stress is in an emerged state, the human value can bring inner peace in humans which also builds emotional stability. When human values have followed all values like spiritual values, family values, etc. will eventually take place. Human values help to develop the character of oneself. It also promotes harmony in society. Human values act as a tool to measure the quality of the human with values as honesty, empathy, integrity unity, and serenity. The values also help to keep up the bonding between humans which in turn helps to keep the world at peace. The human values followed in personal and professional life helps to upgrade ethics thus helping to attain goals and success in life. It also imparts responsibility towards family, society, country and environment. When human
